Lester H. Davis Town Meeting House Tour

Registration ongoing

Limit 1 registration per LPL cardholder

We are pleased to partner with the Davis Town Meeting House Society to host a tour of the Lester H. Davis House. Come see the newly restored house, cemetery, and grounds to learn the history behind this important site in our community.

The Lester H. Davis House is located at the corner of Middle Country Road and Coram-Mount Sinai Road in Coram. Parking is available behind the house.

Spotlight on History: Lester H. Davis Town Meeting House

Situated along Middle Country Road in Coram, the Lester H. Davis Town Meeting House is one of the oldest original buildings in the Longwood community. Built by Elijah Davis around 1750, the house is representative of the English, Dutch, and New England styles of architecture found on the eastern end of Long Island and has played a vital role in the history of the local community and the Town of Brookhaven. In addition to being a working farm, the Davis House was a tavern, general store, base for a horse artillery company of the State Militia, and most importantly, the seat of the Town of Brookhaven. Since it was in the middle of the island, all Town meetings and the Town's official boards were held there from 1790 to 1884. Men came to vote in the annual election held on the first Tuesday in April. These meetings were a combination of political, social, and business events. Horses were traded, relatives and friends socialized, and baker wagons, oyster stands, farm equipment salesmen, and other merchants sold their wares along Middle Country Road. During the Civil War, special Town meetings were held in Coram to decide how many men would be sent to fight and how much they would be paid. After 1884, the town population grew too large to hold a centralized town meeting, and it was decided to divide the town into election districts; however, the Davis family and their house still played a significant role in the Town government. They served as Town Board members, Town Clerks, Justices of the Peace, and even Suffolk County Treasurer.

The farm, which over the years ranged in size from 200 to 135 acres, grew a variety of grains such as barley, wheat, rye, buckwheat, and corn. Cows, hogs, sheep, and chickens were raised for family use and sale. Later, new crops such as asparagus, potatoes, peaches, pears, plums, and assorted berries were added. As with much of the community, cordwood remained an important business for the Davises, with the wood shipped off on sloops and later freight cars. The last owner of the house, Lester H. Davis III, kept a herd of 135 cows for his dairy farm. The cows and barns were on the north side of Middle Country Road, but their pastures were south of the road. As a result, they were brought across Middle Country Road daily to graze in the fields. Lester transformed a portion of his farmland into an airfield in 1959. Known as the Coram Airport, it closed in 1984 but has been occasionally used for emergency landings and is still visible in satellite images of the area.

By the 1960s, Coram was being built up, with new housing developments popping up on the tracts of old farmland. Traffic increased, and the cows needed police officers to stop traffic to let them pass. By 1974, the dairy business ceased. Eventually, most of the farm south of Middle Country Road was sold and became a shopping center. In 1997, Lester sold the house and 3/4 acres of land to the Town of Brookhaven for $300,000 and zoning concessions on other land he owned. The Town later bought the plot of land on which the Davis family cemetery is located. The house is listed on the State and National Registers of Historic Places and is designated as a Brookhaven Town Landmark.

See above for more information about a tour of the Davis Town Meeting House on Saturday, March 15.

Annual Message to the Community

In 2024, as usual, we had a lot going on here at the LPL. The Community Yarn Project was a "thread" that ran through the entire year and across all departments, from collecting donated yarn to offering programs for all ages, to displaying fiber arts around our building and finally to donating lap blankets to a local rehab facility. Thanks to all who took part in this library-wide, and community-wide, initiative.

Our staff introduced new programming such as the volunteer-led Repair Café and the eclipse challenge (we distributed 1300 sets of glasses to participants!). We expanded programs in the makerLAB. We added new discount tickets for sale at the Circulation Desk, saving residents money. Thanks to Legislator Caracappa, we were awarded a grant from Suffolk County which supported additional summer music and dance performances. We launched a new platform for mobile printing in the library, and introduced Fiero Code, a new online resource for learning coding skills. Our community completed the second iteration of the NexTrex Challenge, taking soft plastic film out of the waste stream, and winning a bench that is now located in Bartlett Pond Park. As always, we continue to enhance our collections: we added lots of new items to our Equipment & Gadgets collection, and our children's department introduced Toniebox Kits.

Our dedicated library staff has worked throughout the year to offer high-quality, in-demand services, and has made plans to introduce new programs and services in 2025.

Now that we have been in our "new" building for almost ten years, we will also be evaluating our collections and their use as well as their placement in the building. We anticipate relocating some items and freshening up spaces.

The Board of Trustees is pleased to announce that the small proposed increase is again below the state tax cap. The anticipated increase for the average household is 94 cents per month ($11.29 per year). Details of the proposed budget are shown here and will be available in the library and online in early March. The Board will hold a budget information meeting on Wednesday, March 26 at 7:00 pm.

Completed petitions for library trustee are due by 5:00 pm on Monday, March 10, and information about trustee candidates will be available in the library and on our website shortly thereafter. There is one five-year term seat on the Board of Trustees that is up for election.

If you have any questions about the budget, running for trustee or the library in general, please contact Library Director Lisa Jacobs, at (631) 924-6400 x275, or by email at lisa@longwoodlibrary.org.

2025 Plans

The library provides incredible value for the community's modest investment. Your support of the proposed 2025-2026 budget will allow the library to continue our current excellent level of services and programs, such as:

- The ability to stream and download free eBooks and eAudio from Libby, Hoopla, Freegal and Kanopy
 - Free museum passes to more than 40 museums on Long Island and in New York City
 - Equipment & Gadgets, our Library of Things collection

- Access to public computers with librarians who can provide guidance, as well as one-on-one tech assistance
- A wonderful play area for families with young children, plus the interactive Learn & Play Children's Garden

In addition, your support will enable the library to introduce and/or expand:

- Coding programs for children and teens
- Programs and collections geared toward new adults (adults aged 18-30s)
- Our first GamerCon event, for all ages
- Programs and displays focused on sustainability
- A new reading challenge for students: 500 Books Before Junior High

Please Vote

We will hold our Annual Budget Vote and Trustee Election on Tuesday, April 8, from 8:00 am to 9:00 pm at the library. The Library Board of Trustees is committed to continuing to offer excellent library service while keeping the budget as low as possible. We thank you for your support throughout the year, and ask you to come in and vote on April 8.
